

Isaac Newton

1643-1727 | Physicist

Isaac Newton was an English physicist. He was responsible for many important theories about forces and movement in the universe. His work on gravity and motion led to the creation of Newton's laws of motion, which explain how and why objects move the way they do. Newton was also responsible for theories about light and how we see colour. His theories led to the invention of the very first reflecting telescope.